

LATINAStyle 50

Awards and Diversity Leaders Conference

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 2015
WASHINGTON D.C.

The LS50 Overview

The LATINA Style 50 Report is an annual evaluation of corporate America's sensitivity to Latinas' needs and goals in the work place. This national report is the most respected survey of corporate America's policies and practices as they pertain to the advancement and development of professional Hispanic women. The report the result of an extensive search involving more than 1,000 of the most prominent corporations in the United States.

Companies responding to the questionnaire are evaluated based on the issues that LATINA Style readers have identified as most important to them in the workplace. Among the principal areas of evaluation are: number of Latina executives, mentoring programs, Latinas on the Board of Directors, educational opportunities, career development opportunities, retention programs, alternative work policies, dependent/child care support, leave for childbirth, benefits, downsizing, retraining programs, and Hispanic and women relations.

Since it was first published in 1998, the number of companies applying has nearly tripled, making the selection process significantly more competitive. The increased number of inquiries from companies wishing to find out how they can improve their diversity strategies has prompted us to create the LATINA Style 50 Diversity Leaders Conference. Launched in 2004, this conference is one of the most successful diversity conferences addressing Hispanic issues in the workplace.

Numbering over 50 million, Latinos have become the largest minority in the United States. There are nearly seven million Latina women within the workforce, and that number continues to rise. The business case for diversity within the workforce has grown stronger as a result of the changing U.S. demographics and increased globalization, but many companies have failed to link diversity with their business strategy.
